Welcome to the North American Clivia Society's public online auction! We encourage all to register, view the catalog, and bid. In the online catalog you will find a variety of Clivia related auction items.

All of the items in this year's auction have been donated by NACS members. The proceeds from the auction will go to support the NACS's sponsorship of the 2011 International Clivia Show and Symposium at Longwood Gardens scheduled for March 19 and 20, 2011. This is an important project worthy of the support of all Clivia collectors.

The auction for all items will be open Saturday, October 16, 2010 12:15 am PDT and close Sunday, October 24, 2010 6:00 pm PDT.

Thank you donors.

Some Important Details:

Membership. Non-NACS members can bid. Membership is not required to be a successful bidder.

Payment: We will accept payment via check, money order, or PayPal account: nacs@northamericancliviasociety.org. You will receive an invoice if you are the successful bidder via email.

Thank You

Thank you in advance for your support in making this year's auction a brilliant success!

Auction Items

001 Yellow/Green Throat Seedling

This item is a selfed Clivia miniata seedling of a soft pastel orange with a yellow and green throat. The seedling has four leaves, with one damaged. On the parent plant the green lasted all the way through the bloom's life, but did lighten. The parent was purchased at the 2009 NACS Show and was from Rancho. The parent's most recent flowering had 18 perfect shaped, beautiful blossoms. Photos are of the seedling (Photo 1) and parent (Photo 2). The auction item is the seedling only.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

Donor: Wanda Grunwald

1 – Actual Plant

2 – Mother/Father of Plant

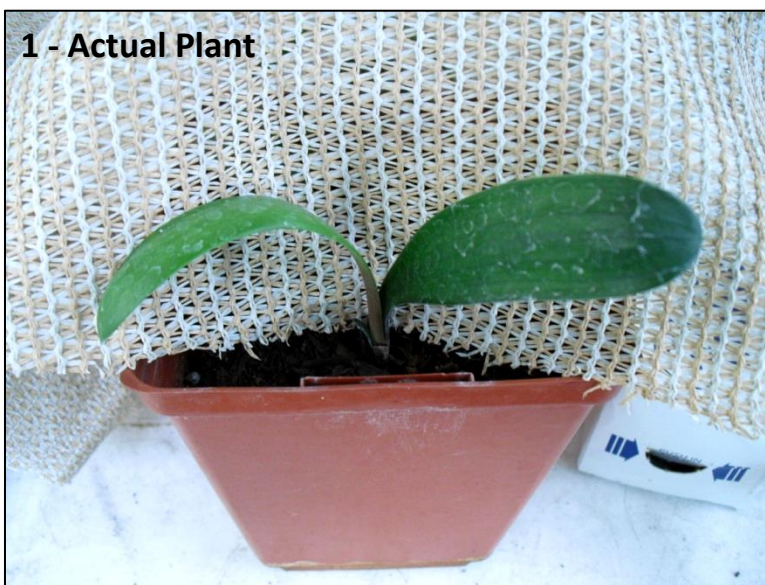

002 (Delphine x Doris) x Belgium Green Throat Seedling

This Clivia miniata seedling (Photo 1) is a cross of two great parents. The pod parent originally raised by Kevin Atkins is a cross of Conway's Jean Delphine with Doris. Jean Delphine is described by Koopowitz in Clivias as "...among the most distinctive of the Conway clivias with unusually rich, dark, brownish orange-red flowers." Doris is described as "...a nice, dark, orange-red from Conway. Doris is another clone that darkens as the flower matures." The pollen parent was a Dirk Lotten Belgium with a green throat as shown in the flower picture (Photo 2). This auction item is for the seedling only.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

Donor: Wanda Grunwald

003 Small Offset of Apricot Interspecific x Nobilis

The parent of this small offset was purchased from a local California grower. It has great potential. The auction item is the seedling shown in the picture.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

Donor: Wanda Grunwald

004 Full Umbel Seedling

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

Donor: Wanda Grunwald

3 – Pollen Parent

005 Five Lily Wang Chinese Seedlings

This item is one lot of five Lily Wang Chinese seedlings. They are from a mixed batch but appear at this stage of growth to be dwarf. There is some minor leaf damage on a few leaves, but the plants are otherwise healthy. The bases are slightly pigmented, so the flowers will probably be some shade of orange. However, given the wide variety in Chinese seedlings there may be something special in the batch.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

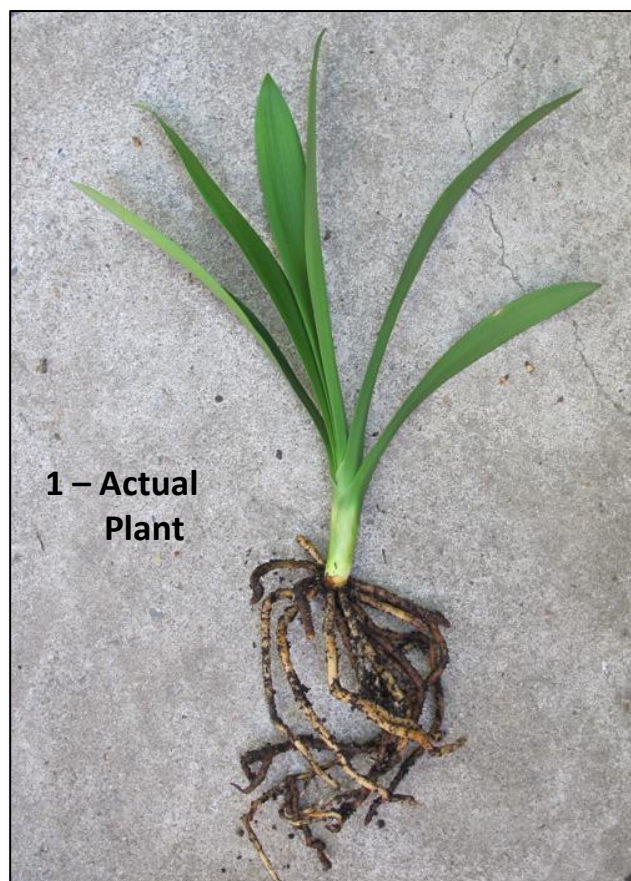

Donor: Wanda Grunwald

006 TK Yellow with Green Throat Offset

This auction item is a 6 leaf offset from the donor's TK Yellow with Green Throat, originally bred by Toshio Koike. Photo 1 is the actual plant. The longest leaf of the offset is 14 inches. Photo 2 is the offset's mother and a Hirao for color comparison. The mother is a seed strain and is one of the nicest examples many have seen, as shown in Photo 2. TK Yellow is a Group 2 Yellow. The auction item does not include the plants in Photo 2

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

008 1828 Nobilis Hand Colored Engraving

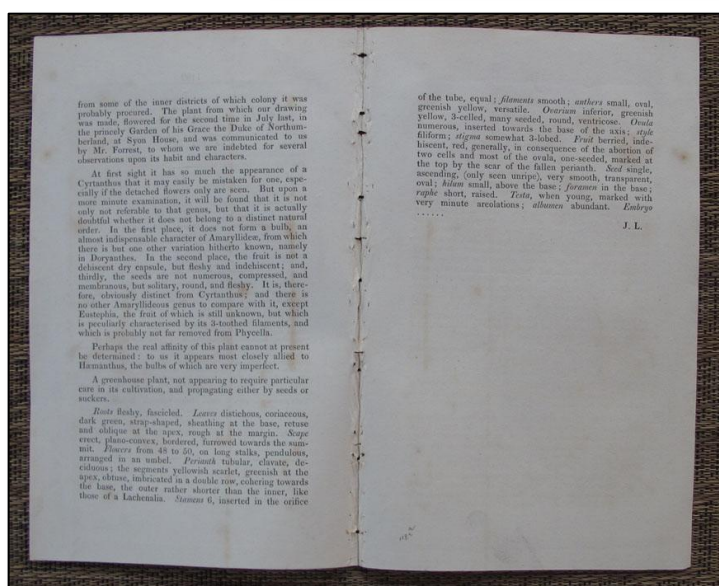

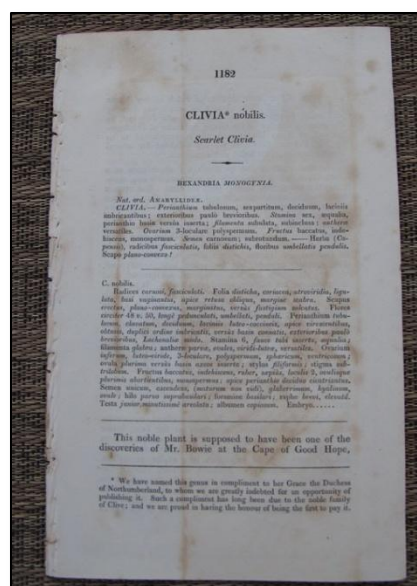

This item is an original 1828 hand colored engraving of a Clivia nobilis. The engraving is from Volume 8 of the Botanical Register, consisting of "Exotic plants cultivated in British Gardens with the history and mode of treatment." The engraving's artist is Sydenham Edward. The Botanical Register was printed between 1820 and 1828 by James Ridgway. Included with the engraving in this auction item are the three pages of text that accompanied it. The print is folded as it was in the book. It has some discolorations as can be seen in the photos. The paper has a browner color to it than shown in the photos. If mounted and framed this item would be a very elegant addition to any Clivia collector's home or office. The engraving is a lovely piece of Clivia history.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

This item is a six leaf offset of an extra wide-leaf multipetal bred by Atsushi Nakayama. Photo 1 is of the mother plant. Photo 2 is of the offset you are bidding on. The mother plant's widest leaf is 3¾ inches (9.5 cm) wide. The offset's longest leaf is 13 inches (33 cm).

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid.

International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

010 Conway's Sunrise Sunset

This auction item is an almost blooming sized, Sunrise Sunset variety of Clivia miniata, first bred by Dave Conway. The plant has 12 leaves with two more on the way. The longest leaf is approximately 16 inches long. Photo 1 shows the actual plant up for auction. Photo 2 shows a typical Sunrise Sunset bloom. Sunrise Sunset is a great addition to any Clivia collection. In Clivias, Harold Koopowitz says the following: "When the flowers open they are almost all yellow with just a hint of peach. As they mature, they acquire a deep flush of peach. If a plant has two or more umbels of different ages they can look like different clones; thus the name Sunrise Sunset."

Shipping: A $10 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

Donor: Jerry Tom

011 Chinese Variegated Clivia Miniata

The original mother Chinese Variegated Clivia miniata came to the donors approximately 10 years ago and was labeled as Jensi. Each offset that has developed from the original mother plant carries a different variegated leaf pattern. The two offsets each from the mother plant maintained in the donor's possession are totally different in leaf pattern. The auction item plant, an offset of the just described mother, is quite an interesting variegated Clivia and may be a Chimera. The flowers are orange. The auction item plant is shown in the photo.

Shipping: A $10 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost. This plant will be shipped from Montana. Depending on weather conditions and the timing of payments, etc., shipping may need to be delayed until warmer weather in the spring.

Donors: Lila Bishop and Hugh Bollinger

089 Flame x Doris Clivia Miniata

This auction item is an almost blooming sized cross of two well known red Clivia miniatas, Flame x Doris. Photo 1 is a recent photo of the auction item. Both parents are described and shown in photographs in Koopowitz's "Clivias". Some excerpts:

"Flame: ...This is a large plant that is quite vigorous, and as the name suggests, it is among the redder flowers available. It is a re-bloomer, and a large clump often throws additional umbels during the summer and fall. The umbel carries about twenty-five flowers in a 9-inch diameter umbel....This plant is much in demand as a breeding plant but is partially self-sterile."

"Doris: This is a nice, dark, orange-red from Conway. 'Doris' is another clone that darkens as the flower matures....The umbel is made up of a nice, tight cluster of about twenty flowers. It is among the better reds available and is recommended for those who are serious about breeding for dark colors."

103 Comstock's Noble Inventions – 2 seeds

Two seeds are offered from "Noble Inventions", the winner of Best of Show for Non-Flowering Plants in 2010 of the NACS Show at the Huntington Botanical Gardens in California. It is an interspecific cross done with a C. miniata akebono from Japan crossed with a C. nobilis. This cross was done in 1998. Although slow at first, this plant now is growing quite vigorously. The donor particularly likes the C.

nobilis influence which has given the leaves a heavy substance which holds the variegation well with no burning. And from nobilis, the matte texture displays the variegation well with no competing glare that a glossy leaf would give. The seeds are self pollinated. The photo is from the parent.

Shipping: A $5 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

104 Yellow Flowered Interspecific

This auction item is a yellow flowered interspecific which is an offspring of "Juliette". "Juliette" is described in Koopowitz's book "Clivias" as:

Clivia [Minicyrt Group]
'Juliette'

Perhaps the most intriguing of Comstock's clivias from Minicyrt breedings is the advanced hybrid, which is several generation from the species. This cultivar illustrates the wonderful color patterns that can be produced. The slightly curved flowers are a rich orange-red with the sepals only slightly darker than the petals. Most of the flower's throat is a similar color, but the flaring edges of the petals are highlighted and brushed with pale pink tones that make the rim of the flower seem to glow.

This auction item interspecific is a delicately shaped, slender flower that stands fairly erect. Photo 1 was taken a few days past the flowers' prime where it suffered through a sudden heat wave. This is the plant's second flowering. The plant is eight years old so appears to have a small stature, a desirable trait in interspecifics. This auction item should be good for more breeding of delicately shaped, yellow interspecifics.

105 Ruby Division

This auction item is a division from “Ruby”, a very good red C. miniata. The color is exceptional and really stands out with sunlight backlighting it. Each floret is not particularly large, but the umbel is nicely arranged and has a high floret count. A unique quality of the florets is a slight pucker in the middle of each tepal. The plant is large and robust. It is believed that red anthocyanin pigments are best developed with UV light frequencies as are contained in normal sunlight. These UV frequencies are filtered out by some greenhouse coverings. So if you want to get the best red color, the donor recommends blooming “Ruby” in a shady outdoor setting.

Shipping: A $10 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.

106 Large Brown-Eyed Girl Division

A very large division of "Brown-Eyed Girl" developed by Doug McGavin. It's one of the original, named bronzes in California in the class of Conway's "Jean Delphine". Harold Koopowitz describes "Brown-Eyed Girl" on page 213, 217 of his book "Clivias" although the donor thinks the plant blooms much better than his description. The reddish-orange florets have a green throat with the green extending into the red-orange tips, combining to give the characteristic "bronze" color. And because older florets turn a pronounced red color, there are many colors happening in this umbel. The bronze color is frequently passed to its offspring.

This particular division is very large and possesses both a flower stalk with red berries ready to harvest from 4/09, plus a flower stalk with berries formed during the past flowering in 4/10. All were self pollinated.

A note from the donor: "I always wondered why Doug called this plant 'Brown-Eyed Girl' when I would have thought 'Green-Eyed Girl' would be better considering its green center. Last year, I learned Doug was color-blind in the red/green range. I didn't say anything more."

Shipping: A $15 fixed shipping and handling fee for domestic, bare root, USPS Priority Mail will be added to the successful bid. International shipping, phytosanitary certificates, or expedited shipping is available at an extra/actual cost.
